God of mercy, we are as Peter;

Sheena says:

*Dear brothers and sisters,
Thank you so much for my ordination gift- and the lovely prayerful send off you gave me. A Bible with Hebrew and Greek translations is exactly what I wanted! I've enjoyed studying these languages while I've been at college and every time I puzzle over a word I'll enjoy thinking of you all! It's a great privilege to be sent from a church like All Hallows- a small community with a mighty heart and to have been part of it for so many years of my own faith journey.
love and prayers

Reflection

Play releases the mind to think outside the boundaries of both the self and the society that shapes us. It teaches us the joy of freedom and gives us the right to break all the rules: we can dirty our shoes, laugh out loud, slide in the grass and blow bubbles to nowhere and no one will care. It enables us to stop taking ourselves too seriously, an insight of eternal importance if we are to live well with others and be able to bear our own failures later when being able to fail becomes our greatest success in life. Joan Chittister

PARISH PANTRY: If you can remember to bring dried food or tins to church so Steve can donate them to people who need extra help just put them in the red box at back of church or drop off at the Vicarage. There is loads of need in our local area.
